

Help us take care of people as we recover from the pandemic...

Are you looking for a job to start your career?
Are you thinking of studying a health/care related subject at college or university? Do you want to gain some useful experience to help your application stand out?
Are you looking for temporary or part time work as a stop gap?

We urgently need to fill the following roles and have over 350 live vacancies:

- Healthcare support workers to work across a variety of healthcare settings, from hospitals to mental health, community care and children's services. You'll work under the supervision of a healthcare professional, supporting them and helping patients on their journey back from injury or illness to full health.
- Support workers or care workers working in adult social care to support people with all aspects of their daily life, including social and physical activities, personal care, mobility and meal times. You could work in a care home, in people's own homes or in the community.

Support workers and care workers play a critical role in our health and care services – making up over a quarter of our workforce. These are roles that can pave the way to a long and varied career. There are also lots of options to fit the work around your life, for instance further studies.

Find out more on Thursday 18th February at 10:00am at our virtual hiring event, hosted by Indeed Recruitment, when we will explain:

- Health and care opportunities in the region
- The care worker/support worker role
- Current vacancies and the application process
